

Doctor, what are those holes in the ground?

Well Adam, those are called "craters." You see, from 1951 to 1992, scientists wanted to learn how nuclear energy worked.

So they did hundreds of nuclear tests.

